Dear Readers,

Welcome to our June 2024 newsletter. This month, the Inclusive Society Institute engaged in a series of important initiatives aimed at fostering social cohesion, enhancing global governance, and addressing human security challenges.

Our Social Cohesion study visit to Helsinki, Finland, provided valuable insights into managing diverse communities. This visit, part of a broader study, allowed us to explore effective strategies for fostering unity in increasingly diverse societies.

On 11 June, we organized a brainstorming session on United Nations reform with key partners, including the Thabo Mbeki Foundation. The session aimed to synchronize approaches to global governance, a critical step in ensuring that the UN remains responsive to contemporary challenges.

The Academic Council on the United Nations System (ACUNS) Annual Meeting in Tokyo was another highlight. Our participation in roundtables addressing human security and assessing institutional capacities underscored our commitment to global resilience and effective governance.

Additionally, we released a new publication, "Is South Africa Getting Healthier?" on 12 June, contributing to the ongoing discourse on the nation's healthcare system.

As always, we appreciate your continued support and look forward to our shared journey towards a more inclusive and resilient society.

Warm regards,

Daryll Swanepoel
