Dear Readers,

The past month has been one filled with exciting activities and developments at the Inclusive Society Institute (ISI).

We had the privilege of participating in the Istanbul Security Forum. It was a valuable opportunity to engage in discussions on global security issues and exchange ideas with experts from around the world. Additionally, ISI attended several significant events, including a dialogue on post-Apartheid heritage, the launch of our Business Circle program aimed at involving the business community in South Africa's socio-economic policy development, and a masterclass on Coalition Governance. We were also honoured to be invited to the 12th meeting of the China Africa Think Tanks Forum, further strengthening our engagement with China-Africa cooperation.

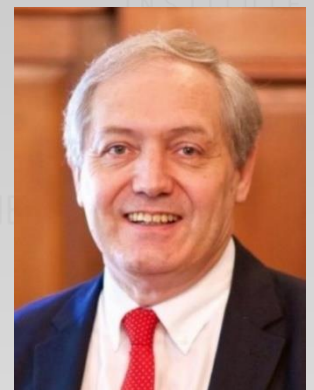

We are proud to share with you three new publications. The first one delves into the complex issue of gender inequality, providing a deeper understanding of its causes and potential solutions. The second publication explores Türkiye's unique approach to Africa beyond the shadows of colonialism, shedding light on the diverse opportunities and challenges in this relationship. Lastly, we present an insightful analysis on navigating China-Africa cooperation within the context of a globally constrained geopolitical environment, offering valuable perspectives on this critical partnership.

Our work has garnered attention in various media outlets. Our participation in the Istanbul Security Forum was highlighted in multiple publications. Furthermore, our research findings on African immigrants and the ANC's voter ceilings have generated insightful discussions. Other media coverage includes Türkiye's ties with Africa, e-tolls, women's equity, global growth prospects, and China-Africa cooperation.

As always, we are grateful for your continued support.

Warm regards,

Daryl Swanepoel
